THE HISTORY OF ALABAMA STATE UNIVERSITY SOCIAL WORK DEPARTMENT

The State Department of Education in Alabama approved the development of a social work program at Alabama State University in the late 1960s. By 1971, seven courses were offered, and sociology majors were able to select social work as a concentration. When social work was offered for the first time as a major in 1974, four students were enrolled. By 1979, 164 students were majoring in social work.

During the 1982-83 academic year, the social work program began the process of applying for accreditation from the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). In 1985, Social Work was organized as an autonomous program within the Department of History and Social Sciences. A program director with a CSWE accredited master's degree and doctoral experience was appointed to provide leadership for the program. Curriculum changes, initiated in 1984, reflected the Council on Social Work Education Standards and Procedures in effect at that time. The program was granted initial accreditation by the Council on Social Work Education in 1989 and was reaffirmed in 1992. The Social Work Department gained full status as a separate academic department in the fall of 1994 and was reaffirmed in 2000.

The Department currently boasts two programs, the Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) and the Master of Social Work (MSW), the latter which received full accreditation from the Council on Social Work Education in 2016. Upon successful completion of the prescribed curriculum students receive a BSW or MSW degree and are prepared for entry into beginning social work practices in a variety of employment settings with families, groups, organizations, and communities.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the MSW program at ASU is to prepare students for advanced professional practice. As related to the University's mission, the Department's mission is to prepare students with requisite advanced social work knowledge, skills, and values in specialized areas of practice, and the use of scientific inquiry to aid in practice and policy analysis, grounding instruction on human behavior, need and growth in the strengths perspective. Students will be able to apply critical thinking skills to their understanding and commitment to diverse populations to promote human and community well-being while alleviating the impact of social and economic injustice on diverse individuals, families, and communities domestically and globally, particularly those injustices that are unique to the marginalized and oppressed communities of Alabama and the Southeastern United States as well as those that are the result of structural inequity.

The MSW program is designed to prepare students for professional practice specializing in Forensic Social Work and Mental Health.

GOALS OF THE MSW PROGRAM

The MSW program will prepare students to:

Goal 1:

Integrate scholarship into practice through an evidence-based knowledge that encourages formative and summative evaluation, and which subscribes to best practices in the field.

Goal 2:

Take an advocacy role in addressing social problems, including crime and violence, social welfare, policy development, and family and community barriers to well-being.

Goal 3:

Prepare students to practice in a manner consistent with using ethical principles in the development of research to further advance and enhance social work knowledge and skills.

Goal 4:

Prepare students to apply critical thinking skills in their understanding and commitment to alleviating social problems within the context of research theory and social work practice.

Goal 5:

Provide students with requisite knowledge, values, and skills to become independent and effective leaders who can mobilize resources to transform and empower communities.

Goal 6:

Prepare students to take an active professional role in addressing social problems in order to ensure social and economic justice.

Goal 7:

Apply the principles of social work to the legal system. This includes applicable local, state, and Federal laws; civil and criminal courts and the juvenile justice system; law enforcement agencies, and correctional facilities.

MSW PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

The Alabama State University Master of Social Work program will measurably produce the following:

- Graduates who obtain employment in government and in the private sector.
- Graduates who engage in research–informed practice and practice-informed research, and program evaluation related to their areas of concentration.
- Graduates who demonstrate a strong commitment to promoting social and economic justice by engaging in leadership and policy practice which address social problems affecting at-risk populations.

THE PROFESSION OF SOCIAL WORK

From the inception of the profession, social workers have looked at human behavior in relation to society. Our earliest pioneers, for example, Mary Richmond, stressed the psychosocial nature of the person and his or her environment. At the root of social work is the belief that any assessment of behavior should view a person's behavior in relation to the needs, opportunities and obstacles that exist in the environment (Newman & Newman, 2012).

The official definition of social work is the one offered by the National Association of Social Work (NASW). NASW defines social work accordingly:

The professional activity of helping individuals, groups or communities enhance or restore their capacity for social functioning and creating societal conditions favorable to this goal (NASW, 2013).

PURPOSES OF SOCIAL WORK

Social Work is connected and involved with the interactions among people and the institutions of society that affect the ability of people to accomplish tasks, realize aspirations and values, and alleviate distress. These interactions among people and social institutions occur within the context of the largest societal good. Therefore, three major purposes of social work may be identified:

- To enhance the problem-solving, coping, and development capacities of people;
- To promote the effective and human operation of the systems that provide clients with resources, services, and opportunities; and
- To link people with systems that provides them with resources, services, and opportunities.

Primary Values of the Social Work Profession

Students in the social work field must exhibit these values:

- respect for the dignity, worth, and uniqueness of every human being,
- recognition of the need for a democratic and caring society, and
- the right to self-determination.

Practice Principles

Students in social work must practice the following principles:

- recognize that every client system is unique and deserving of consideration and respect (individualization).
- understand the human need to express one's feelings and the value in this expression as a means of fostering growth (purposeful expression of feelings).
- use one's feelings and emotions appropriately for the service of others (controlled emotional involvement).
- demonstrate that human beings have a right to be accepted, as they are (acceptance)
- avoid passing judgments on people (nonjudgmental attitude).
- respect the right of clients to choose for themselves as much as possible (self-determination).
- keep information obtained from or about a client confidential (confidentially).

NASW CODE OF ETHICS

The National Association of Social Workers (NASW) is the largest membership organization of professional social workers in the world, with over 132,000 members. NASW works to enhance the professional growth and development of its members, to create and maintain professional standards, and to advance sound policies. The NASW Code of Ethics is intended to serve as a guide to the everyday professional conduct of social workers (NASW, 2014).

Purpose of the NASW Code of Ethics

Professional ethics are at the core of social work. The profession has an obligation to articulate its basic values, ethical principles, and ethical standards. The NASW Code of Ethics sets forth these values, principles, and standards to guide social workers' conduct. The Code is relevant to all social workers and social work students, regardless of their professional functions, the settings in which they work, or the populations they serve.

The NASW Code of Ethics serves six purposes:

1. The Code identifies core values on which social work's mission is based.
2. The Code summarizes broad ethical principles that reflect the profession's core values and establishes a set of specific ethical standards that should be used to guide social work practice.
3. The Code is designed to help social workers identify relevant considerations when professional obligations conflict or ethical uncertainties arise.
4. The Code provides ethical standards to which the general public can hold the social work profession accountable.
5. The Code socializes practitioners new to the field to social work's mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards.
6. The Code articulates standards that the social work profession itself can use to assess whether social workers have engaged in unethical conduct. NASW has formal procedures to adjudicate ethics complaints filed against its members. * In subscribing to this Code, social workers are required to cooperate in its implementation, participate in NASW adjudication proceedings, and abide by any NASW disciplinary rulings or sanctions based on it.

Ethical Principles

The following broad ethical principles are based on social work's core values of service, social justice, dignity and worth of the person, importance of human relationships, integrity, and competence. These principles set forth ideals to which all social workers should aspire.

Value: Service

Ethical Principle: Social workers' primary goal is to help people in need and to address social problems.

Social workers elevate service to others above self-interest. Social workers draw on their knowledge, values, and skills to help people in need and to address social problems. Social workers are encouraged to volunteer some portion of their professional skills with no expectation of significant financial return (pro bono service).

Value: Social Justice

Ethical Principle: Social workers challenge social injustice.

Social workers pursue social change, particularly with and on behalf of vulnerable and oppressed individuals and groups of people. Social workers' social change efforts are focused primarily on issues of poverty, unemployment, discrimination, and other forms of social injustice. These activities seek to promote sensitivity to and knowledge about oppression and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers strive to ensure access to needed information, services, and resources; equality of opportunity; and meaningful participation in decision making for all people.

Value: Dignity and Worth of the Person

Ethical Principle: Social workers respect the inherent dignity and worth of the person.

Social workers treat each person in a caring and respectful fashion, mindful of individual differences and cultural and ethnic diversity. Social workers promote clients' socially responsible self-determination. Social workers seek to enhance clients' capacity and opportunity to change and to address their own needs. Social workers are cognizant of their dual responsibility to clients and to the broader society. They seek to resolve conflicts between clients' interests and the broader society's interests in a socially responsible manner consistent with the values, ethical principles, and ethical standards of the profession.

Value: Importance of Human Relationships

Ethical Principle: Social workers recognize the central importance of human relationships.

Social workers understand that relationships between and among people are an important vehicle for change. Social workers engage people as partners in the helping process. Social workers seek to strengthen relationships among people in a purposeful effort to promote, restore, maintain, and enhance the well-being of individuals, families, social groups, organizations, and communities.

Value: Integrity

Ethical Principle: Social workers behave in a trustworthy manner.

Social workers are continually aware of the profession's mission, values, ethical principles, and ethical standards and practice in a manner consistent with them. Social workers act honestly and responsibly and promote ethical practices on the part of the organizations with which they are affiliated.

Value: Competence

Ethical Principle: Social workers practice within their areas of competence and develop and enhance their professional expertise.

Social workers continually strive to increase their professional knowledge and skills and to apply them in practice. Social workers should aspire to contribute to the knowledge base of the profession.

Applicants with a GPA between 2.60 and 2.69 will be considered for conditional admission. Previously awarded graduate degrees and prior enrollment in programs where a degree was not awarded are considered in the admissions decision-making.
- B. Three Letters of Recommendation (20%): Appropriateness of letter writers (e.g., supervisory person, employer, or professor) and quality of the writer's evaluation (degree to which the letter indicates appropriate qualities and attributes of the applicant and supports these with details and examples).
- C. Statement of Purpose: (25%): Applicant's demonstration of personal maturity, written communication skills, interest in and understanding of social work as a profession.

D. Resume (15% for human service experience): Applicants prior work or volunteer experience in the human services field.

E. Scores on the GRE or MAT: (No minimum score required). Exemplary scores will be considered in the context of the other required admission materials.

The evaluation process for determining admission to the MSW program includes:

Evaluation by the MSW Admissions Committee. The committee chair reviews the committee's evaluation and makes a recommendation to the MSW Program Director. Each admissions committee member's evaluation will be documented. Any one committee member may not reject an applicant unilaterally, unless an applicant does not meet the GPA criterion.

Students who apply by the priority deadlines noted above will be notified of their final admission status in writing no later than May 15th of the year in which they apply.

An applicant may receive full or conditional admission status:

1. Full admission. All requirements and conditions met.
2. Conditional admission may be offered to: 1) Foundation applicants with a deficiency in Biology, Statistics, and/or Research Methods; and/or 2) Applicants with a cumulative GPA between 2.60 and 2.69.

Students receiving conditional admissions will be notified in writing of deficiencies and expectations to correct eligibility requirements. These deficiencies must be corrected during the first semester following admission.

All applicants are notified in a timely manner of the Admissions Committee's decision by the Harold A. Murphy Graduate School. The ASU Graduate School is notified of the Admissions Committee's decision through the required department recommendation form in WebAdmit, the University's centralized application service. The ASU Graduate School then sends a letter to each applicant confirming their full admission, conditional admission, or their denial.

Admitted students will receive a personal letter from the Master of Social Work program providing additional information about their program type and concentration options. Applicants who receive full or conditional admission must return a signed response to the Admissions Chair within 10 working days of the date of the letter of admission signifying their intent to honor their acceptance. Applicants failing to return the contract within the required time will be given a 10-day grace period before their names are removed from the list of admitted candidates.

If all slots are filled, admitted applicants will be placed on a waiting list by priority, and notified in writing as space becomes available.

SCHOLARSHIPS, STIPENDS, AND ASSISTANTSHIPS

Scholarships, stipends and assistantships are offered upon availability. Students are also encouraged to seek additional sources of funding and support from external grantors.

FELONY CONVICTION

Applicants for admission to the MSW program must report any history of felony convictions. Conviction of a felony offense may not necessarily prevent a student from being admitted to the Social Work program, but may make social work licensure in the state of Alabama more difficult to acquire. Social work students may be assigned to a field practicum site which serves vulnerable clients, and liability issues may prevent a student who has been convicted of certain felonies to be assigned to those practicum sites.

Students are required to report felony convictions at the time of application for admission to the Social Work program and again when making application for Field Placement I and II. Failure to report a felony conviction will result in the termination of the student from the Social Work program.

Mail and Written Communication

Mailboxes will be provided for students in the Department.

Current Address/Telephone/Email Address must be provided.

All MSW students are assigned a department faculty advisor who serves as the principal contact person. The policy requires scheduled meetings and encourages informal contacts between students and the advisor throughout the student's period of study in the department. It is the responsibility of the student to meet with their advisor to ensure that the proper courses are selected and that requirements of the program are properly met.

The following are the goals of the Advisement Program:

- To facilitate the development of students into professional social workers by providing specified individual and group time for discussion of social work as a professional activity and of the preparation necessary for professional practice, including specified knowledge, skills, values, and ethics;
- To provide continuous opportunities for assessment of personal suitability for professional social work practice;
- Ensure that students take the proper courses in the proper sequence;
- Approve selection of elective courses;
- Monitor the academic progress of students, update students' curriculum records each semester, and periodically review program policies with students.

During the initial meeting, the student will receive a program of study and approval to take classes for the first period of enrollment. Students who apply for admission late—less than three (3) weeks prior to the beginning of a semester—may be delayed in registering for classes resulting in the payment of late fees. Students should consult with the assigned advisor each semester to ensure that the proper classes have been selected and to keep abreast of current Graduate School and Departmental policies and procedures.

Students must check with the Graduate School regularly to verify all test dates, registration dates, etc.

COMPUTER LABS

Students have access to computer labs throughout ASU as well as the computer lab housed in the Social Work Department where a majority of classes will be held. Additionally, the Levi Watkins Learning Center (library) has a computer lab on the second floor in room 202. The computer lab is for typing papers or creating other documents. To access the internet, Library catalog, or Library databases students may also use the computers on the 1st, 3rd, or 4th floors.

CURRICULUM

The rationale for the program's curriculum design is based on a belief that graduates of the MSW program will be prepared for advanced social work practice and organizational leadership. Upon completion of the program, students should be equipped with an advanced requisite of knowledge, skills, and values in specialized areas of practice. Graduates will be prepared to work with various populations in the state of Alabama and beyond with particular emphasis on those who are vulnerable, marginalized, and underserved.

The MSW Program is grounded in multiple perspectives including but not limited to, the strengths perspective, person-in-environment, and social justice. Students will apply their General Education knowledge in the Social Work curriculum and will learn or expand their knowledge of the profession's values, knowledge, and skills.

ASU's Department of Social Work offers an Advanced Standing Program (one year), the Traditional Master of Social Work Program (two years), and a Part-Time Program (four years). Thirty-six (36) semester credit hours are required to complete the Advanced Standing Program and sixty (60) semester credit hours to complete the two year or part-time program.

Advanced Standing Track

ASU provides an advanced training opportunity for BSW graduates which builds on their skills and provides them an opportunity to complete their graduate studies. Students with BSW degrees from CSWE accredited social work programs may apply for the advanced standing program.

Students must also have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher on a 4.0 scale, including a grade of B or better in Social Work foundation courses. They must have also earned a Baccalaureate Degree within eight (8) years of the year of intended enrollment to be eligible for the Advanced Standing Track. Students must complete the 12-month Advanced Standing program in three (3) consecutive semesters unless otherwise approved for a formal leave of absence. If a student is eligible for a formal leave of absence while enrolled in the advanced standing program, they must reenroll in the program within one academic year to remain eligible for the advanced standing track pending that the period of leave does not result in the student being ineligible for advanced standing based on the time since completion of BSW.

The program's curriculum is designed to reinforce learning by continuously building and reinforcing students' developing and advancing knowledge base, concurrently offering opportunities both in class and later in field to apply that learning. Some knowledge is infused throughout the curriculum, while other knowledge is primarily located in concentration specific dedicated courses.

Traditional/Part-Time Track

The professional foundation curriculum is designed to provide students with knowledge and skills necessary to apply and carry out core social work practice competencies with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations; thus ultimately developing a generalist perspective of social work practice. This includes a focus on the uniqueness of social work values and philosophy, a commitment to promote social justice and diversity, multiple theoretical frameworks, and a commitment to ensure evidence-based practice. The MSW foundation curriculum builds upon the liberal arts base in the application of knowledge derived from the social and behavioral sciences.

Students who have a Bachelor's degree in a related social science discipline may also apply for admission to the two-year program. Admission is contingent upon successful completion of identified prerequisite courses and the completion of a successful interview with program faculty as needed. These courses include:

- Human Biology
- Human Biology Lab
- Introduction to Sociology
- Social Problems
- Cultural Anthropology
- Elementary Social Statistics
- Introduction to Economics
- General Psychology

Repeat Course Policy

Students admitted to the Advanced Standing program will begin their coursework in the program's concentration year. Students accepted into the Advanced Standing Program will not be repeating content from the BSW program.

BSW students not eligible for the Advanced Standing Program must follow the two-year traditional program MSW curriculum, which does include courses similar to the senior year of a BSW program. It is the position of our MSW program faculty that BSW students who have not mastered the BSW course content and competencies are ineligible for Advanced Standing Program admission.

BSW students who do not meet the admission requirements for the Advanced Standing Program, can request a course substitution for up to six (6) credit hours (2 courses) during their first year (foundation year) of the program. The foundation-year degree requirements will be substituted based on demonstrated mastery of content. Mastery of content is defined as having earned no less than a final grade of "A" in their BSW courses Human Behavior and Social Environment I and II or Social Welfare Policy I and II. If the student has an "A" in Human Behavior and Social Environment I and/or II, they can request a waiver for the class(es) they received the "A" for up to 6 credit hours. If the student has mastered the course content in the Policy series of courses as evidenced by earning an "A" in both Social Welfare Policy I and II, the student may waive up to three (3) credit hours of policy in the graduate program. If it is not clear to the academic advisor whether a BSW course is comparable to the learning objectives of the MSW course, a determination will be made by the academic advisor, MSW Program Director, and the Department Chair upon reviewing the course descriptions, objectives, outlines, and syllabi from the undergraduate program.

The students' academic advisors will inform applicants of course options for course substitutions after the admission decision is determined. Students will receive a letter that identifies course substitution options and requirements. A copy of the letter will be filed in students' records for use in academic advising.

Transfer of Credits

MSW students may apply for a maximum transfer of nine (9) semester hours of graduate credit in which grades of “B” or better are earned at an accredited graduate degree-granting institution. Credit earned in correspondence work will not be accepted. Any graduate work to be transferred must meet the following requirements: (1) courses must be taken within time limitation (up to 10 years) as stated for the graduate program of study (2) the course was restricted to graduate students only; (3) the content of the course must correspond to that of a course at this institution; and (4) courses (foundation courses and approved electives) must be approved by the student’s Advisor and the MSW Program Director. Students desiring to have graduate credits transferred must complete a Transfer of Credit form (available in The Graduate School) and have an official transcript sent from the Registrar of the college/university previously attended. Students transferring courses for teacher education programs must have taken them at an institution with state-approved programs.

In compliance with CSWE’s standard, academic credit for life or previous work experience is not awarded. Therefore, academic credit for life and/or previous work experience will not be given, in whole or in part, in lieu of the field practicum or of courses in the MSW course curriculum guide. Students are informed of this policy in the Social Work Program’s Student Handbook; Field Education handbook, it is also noted in the application materials and included in the University Catalog. Academic credit for life and/or previous work experience will not be given, in whole or in part, in lieu of the field practicum or of courses in the professional foundation areas.

MSW CONCENTRATION OVERVIEWS

Concentration in Forensic Social Work

The Forensic Social Work concentration will prepare students for professional practice in the judicial arena. Specifically, it will prepare students to work with individuals, families, groups and organizations that are involved in the criminal and juvenile justice systems. This concentration will equip students for micro and macro practice in law enforcement, the court system, probation, residential settings (group homes, forensic mental health hospitals), correctional facilities (jails, prisons, juvenile detention facilities), child custody cases, child abuse investigations, and victim assistance programs.

Concentration in Mental Health

The Mental Health Concentration will prepare students for professional practice with individuals and families experiencing mental health challenges. This curriculum prepares students to assume practice and leadership roles and responsibilities in such settings as, community mental health agencies, substance abuse programs, mental health organizations, health care, long-term institutions, research settings, and business and industry.

FIELD EDUCATION

Field Practicum and Seminar [8-12 credit hours' contingent upon program selected]

Students will complete 900 clock hours in diverse agencies in the community as required for the course. Students in the traditional two-year program will complete two courses that are designed to integrate classroom study with practice in a social work setting. The first course, Field Practicum I, a 400 hour/4 credit hour introductory field experiences, will focus on generalist practice. The second course, Field Practicum II, a 500 hour/6 credit hour advanced field experience, will focus on area of concentration.

Students who completed field work in support of a BSW within eight calendar years of their enrollment, both those qualifying for advanced standing program as well as those enrolled in the traditional program, must complete 900 hours of field work of which 400 credit hours may be transferred from their undergraduate field practicum experience. These candidates will be exempt from the foundation year field placement. Students will complete 500 credit hours (Field Practicum II) in an approved field setting during their concentration year.

Part time MSW students must also complete 900 hours of field work implemented differently and tailored to their specific needs. They will engage in three semesters of field practicum (Field I, Field II and Field III, each 300 hours of field work).

STUDENT CONCERNS

ACADEMIC POLICIES

EVALUATING PROFESSIONAL PERFORMANCE

As a student in ASU's MSW program, it is the expectation that all students demonstrate a level of professionalism and professional performance that is in alignment with our professional code of conduct and the NASW Code of Ethics, Section 4.05. Students who show an inability to insightfully understand and resolve their own issues so that these issues do not interfere with generalist social work practice is a student concern (adapted from Bemak, Epp, & Keys, 1999, p. 21). The student concern can be reflected in one or more of the following ways: “ (a) an inability and/or unwillingness to acquire and integrate professional standards into one's gamut of professional behavior , (b) an inability to acquire professional skills in order to reach an acceptable level of competency, and (c) an inability to control personal stress, psychological dysfunction, and/or excessive emotional reactions that interfere with professional functioning” (Lamb, Presser, Pfost, Baum, Jackson, & Jarvis, 1987, p.598). Student behavior in the learning environment,

This definition of student concern is consistent with the NASW Code of Ethics, Section 4.05: (a) Social Workers should not allow their own personal problems, psychological distress, legal problems, substance abuse, or mental health difficulties to interfere with their professional judgment and performance or to jeopardize the best interests of people for whom they have a professional responsibility. (b) Social Workers whose personal problems, psychological distress, legal problems, substance abuse, or mental health difficulties interfere with their professional judgment and performance should immediately seek consultation and take appropriate remedial action by seeking professional help, making adjustments in workload, terminating practice, or taking any other steps necessary to protect clients and others.

As a student in ASU's MSW program, it is the expectation that all students demonstrate a level of professional performance that is in alignment with social work's professional code of conduct, the NASW Code of Ethics. When it has been determined that a student has demonstrated behaviors deemed unsuitable for social work practice, the procedures for the above noted policy will be utilized to develop a corrective action plan or termination from the program.

SOCIAL WORK PROGRAM NON-ACADEMIC FAILURE POLICY AND PROCEDURES

Alabama State University Master of Social Work Program faculty has an obligation to the social work profession to ensure, in as much as possible, that its MSW graduates are academically, emotionally, and ethically prepared for professional practice. Because of this obligation, students who exhibit signs of mental or emotional stress, engage in behavior which violates the National Association of Social Workers' Code of Ethics, and/or engage in other behaviors (problematic alcohol and substance use, or criminal behavior) will be evaluated to determine if they should continue in the program, and if so, those requirements that would insure that they are prepared for professional practice.

Alleged problems may be presented by faculty, staff, field instructors, or other students. Information relevant to the evaluation of the problem should be as thorough as possible and include the sources of the information.

Identified problems with accompanying documentation should be presented in writing to the Program Chair. The Program Chair will notify the student and his/her advisor in writing that a potential problem(s) has been identified and convene a meeting with the student and his/her advisor to discuss and evaluate the allegations.

During this meeting, the parties involved will attempt to resolve the difficulties. If the resolution of the problem(s) requires remediation and/or correction, a written remediation/correction plan will be prepared and signed by the student (if the student agrees to the charge and plan), the advisor, and the Program Chair. The written statement of the alleged problem (s) and the remediation plan would be placed in a confidential file established for this purpose. The remediation plan must be explicit with clearly stated behavioral criteria for evaluating its success or failure. Compliance with the remediation plan and completion of the behavioral criteria will be monitored by the Program Chair.

When the resolution recommends a period of withdrawal from the Program, a written plan will be prepared which sets forth the considerations for reinstatement, including the minimal period of time which must elapse before the student can apply for reinstatement and the documented behavioral changes expected. The written plan must be signed by the student, the advisor, and Program Chair and placed in a confidential file. The same procedures will apply if the resolution is a temporary withdrawal of the student from the program.

When the student disagrees that a problem exists or disagrees with the proposed resolution, the student may, within fourteen (14) calendar days, request that the Chair convene a panel of judges to consider the issues and recommend a resolution. The panel shall consist of three faculty members, the Program Chair, and a faculty member other than the student's advisor, and another faculty member selected by the student. The panel may make one of the following recommendations: (1) the student should continue in the program; (2) the student will continue and agree to work on remediation/corrections for the specified problem; or (3) the student will be required to withdraw, indefinitely or temporarily for the reasons specified.

The Panels' decision will be presented to the entire program faculty within seven (7) calendar days for a decision on the recommendation. If the student is dissatisfied with the decision of the panel/and program, the student may initiate the procedure described on page 13 of the University's handbook of Students Rights and Responsibilities.

Consistent with the values of the Social Work profession, all parties will maintain strict confidentiality in the process. If information is needed from sources outside of the Social Work Program or University, written consent will be obtained from the student to secure a release for such information.

SOCIAL WORK ATTRITION POLICY

The academic status of students who are formally admitted to the program will be evaluated minimally twice during the academic year by the assigned advisor. The advisors will submit students to the Social Work Admissions Committee for the review and recommend termination when the record of the student shows the following:

- a. When student's overall grade point average falls below 3.0
- b. When a grade of "C" has been earned in a social work course during the semester
- c. When student has provided rationale for previous failing grade and has a plan for renewal that seemed sufficient to allow continuance in the major, but still has earned a grade of less than a "C" in a second social work foundation course.

The procedures for dismissal are as follows:

- student's deficiencies will be reviewed by all members of the Social Work Admissions Committee;
- the Committee will meet with the student to discuss academic deficiencies, allowing student to respond; and
- when evidence substantiates that the student is lacking in the necessary qualifications for meeting the academic and/or ethical requirements of the profession, he or she will be counseled out of the program and assisted in finding a more suitable field of study.

STUDENTS RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The University and the Social Work Department are obligated at all times to provide a curriculum that prepares students for beginning a professional level of social work practice in accordance with the Council on Social Work Education Standard (CSWE) for Masters programs. Students have to commit themselves to preparation for professional social work practice. In accordance with these standards, the program acknowledges the following statement of Student Rights:

Statement of Student Rights

Students have the right to expect the following:

1. department faculty to provide them high quality instruction and training for generalist social work practice that is consistent with the cognitive and affective of learning Department objective on the Council on Social Work Education Standards;

2. fair evaluation of performance based on written criteria that are consistent with course objectives;
3. an advisement procedure that not only facilitates their development into professional social workers but also assures that the proper courses are taken in proper sequence;
4. a written syllabus presented at the beginning of each course specifying the purpose of the course, prerequisites, objectives, course requirements, grading criteria, and expected outcomes;
5. representative participation in the development and evaluation of Program policies;
6. mechanisms that facilitate and encourage participation in their own organization; and
7. policies and procedures that allows the expression of grievances.

Student input has been critical for the ongoing evaluation of policies related to the academic program and student affairs. Students' input in policies affecting academic and student affairs is obtained through the following avenues:

- Advisement sessions with faculty advisor;
- Students' opinions that emerge out of Whitney Young Social Work Club, NABSW, and Phi Alpha Honor Society meetings;
- Student formal evaluations of courses and teaching;
- Field instruction seminar; and
- Student membership on the Social Work Advisory Council.

Two Master of Social Work students are selected each year to serve on the Social Work Advisory Council. Membership on this committee provides social work students with additional avenues for participating in shaping the policies of the department and program.

Statement of Student Responsibilities

Students have the responsibility of demonstrating their commitment to preparation for professional social work practice in the following ways:

1. Exhibiting behaviors that are consistent with social work values and ethics and that demonstrate respect and sensitivity to rights and dignity of all individuals;
2. Demonstrating scholarly interest in assigned classroom readings and activities;
3. Participating in student and professional social work association and activities, particularly Alabama State University Social Work student organizations;
4. Scheduling conferences with Social Work Department faculty advisors prior to registration for assistance with course scheduling to assure adherence to the Department's policies;
5. Participating on committees related to the development and implementation of Department program policies and activities (with other students and faculty); and,
6. Utilizing writing, reading, math, and speech laboratories to improve communication skills (on professional subjects and in the professional context).

STUDENTS GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES

The Student Grievance Procedure is designed to be used by student(s) following a specific complaint as a result of actions or policy decisions by the faculty or for a school-related conflict with another student. The intent of this procedure is to assure students' fair and just consideration and to provide guidelines, which follow, for the resolution of student grievances:

1. The student must first attempt to resolve the matter with the faculty person or student.
2. If the matter is not resolved within 14 days from the date of the grievance meeting, the student should submit a written statement to the chair describing the nature of the grievance. The written statement to the Department Chairperson constitutes the opening of the procedure.

The Department Chair shall respond in this manner:

- acknowledge in writing receipt of written grievance statement from the student and forward a copy of the written grievance statement to the faculty person; and
 - inform both parties of the findings and conclusion in writing; the Chairperson decides to bring the parties to a meeting to interpret the findings and conclusion.
3. If both parties sign the statement of findings and conclusions, then the problem is resolved.
 4. If either party does not sign the statement of findings and conclusions then the matter is not resolved, and the following procedure is automatically put into motion.
 5. If the Department Chair is directly involved in the decision or policy of concern, then the senior faculty member shall perform the following role:
 - a. A chair from another department will forward the three written statements to the Student-Faculty Grievance Committee for adjudication. This committee shall include the following persons:
 - (1) a student member appointed by the president of one of the social work organizations;
 - (2) the student's faculty advisor; and
 - (3) a faculty member chosen by the Department Chair.

Note: None of the above shall be selected if they have been directly involved in the decision leading to the grievance.

6. Each Student-Faculty Grievance Committee shall be an Ad Hoc Committee, serving only in the instance of the particular grievance for which it has been established. The committee should function as follows:
 - a. At the first meeting the committee shall select a Chairperson;

- b. Records on the hearing shall be kept either in writing or by use of a tape recorder;
- c. The committee shall follow whatever procedures it considers appropriate to ensure thorough study, fair consideration, and equitable resolution of a particular grievance;
- d. When the grievance has been resolved, the Chairperson of the Ad Hoc Committee shall inform the Department Chairperson in a written statement, signed by both parties; and
- e. If the student is not satisfied with the resolution or decision of the committee, then the student may initiate the procedure described on page 29 (Code of Student Academic Responsibilities).

Consistent with the values of the Social Work profession, all parties in the grievance process must adhere to strict confidentiality.

FIELD EDUCATION ADMISSION POLICY

The Social Work Department admits only those students who are candidates for the Master's degree in social work to the Field Education courses and social work practice courses. There are specific guidelines that determine students' eligibility for field placement. The MSW Program does not provide any course credit based on life or previous work experience of the student. Only students officially admitted to the MSW Program can register for social work field placement courses or be matched with a placement agency.

Foundation and second year, concentration, students must complete basic steps in order to become certified to begin field placement. The student must attend a field placement orientation, then complete an application and individual interview with the Field Coordinator and/or Director of Field and the final step is the actual agency interview. Any student who fails to meet the steps outlined could be delayed or denied field placement. Only official excuses from student affairs will be accepted.

In addition, students must have successfully completed all pre-requisite course requirements or are enrolled in co-requisite courses and have an overall 3.0 GPA in coursework. Students must have a satisfactory field readiness evaluation, and successfully completed the Field Instruction application process. This completed coursework provides the student with the necessary foundation for Field Instruction and the field application and readiness process allows field education team and student to assess or address any areas of concerns prior to moving into field placement.

FIELD INSTRUCTION APPROACH AND STRUCTURE

The structure of Field Education at Alabama State University promotes a planned relationship between cognitive and experiential learning. Student assignments during placement are designed according to the goal and objectives of the Alabama State University Social Work Department, the objectives of Field Education, and the student's abilities and interests. All assignments are educationally directed and professionally supervised to represent a planned linkage between classroom learning and agency experiences.

The student maintains a daily log of the activities engaged in at the agency. The Director of Field and/or Field Liaison is informed about the student's weekly professional development through the log sheets. The advantage of this design is that it promotes the utilization of theoretical material while it is being presented (Danowski, 2005).

Factors Affecting the Success of this Approach to Field Education

1. The Field Instructor accepts the role of teacher and supervisor.
2. The Field Instructor is knowledgeable of the theoretical content in the social work course.
3. The Field Instructor provides experiences that link course content with field experiences.

4. The Field Instructor works with the Field Coordinator in planning the course (Field Education), including sequencing field content with in-class content (Practice Courses) to allow their integration.

The Concurrent Structure

Field Placement at Alabama State University is based on the concurrent field model. Thirty-two (32) clock hours per week are required in the Field Placement Agency. Students receive four (4) semester credit hours for Field Practicum I (Foundation); six (6) semester credit hours for Field Practicum II (Concentration) and one hour each for Field Placement Seminar I and II. On Tuesday's and Thursday's students are enrolled in social work courses in which discussion of field experiences are processed and integrated into those social work courses.

The Field Instructor will be aware of the Field Placement course objectives and will provide the students within the agency the opportunity to integrate the theoretical learning from the classroom with work in the agency. Agency supervisors are made aware of students assignments during the field instructor's orientation and through ongoing dialogue.

SOCIAL WORK LICENSURE REQUIREMENTS

Obtaining social work employment in most states, including Alabama, requires licensing. The social worker's authority presumes that a social worker follows a code of ethics and has expertise that includes assessment capabilities and knowledge about appropriate interventions designed to alleviate problems. According to the Association Social Work Boards, the licensure process ensures a level of safe practice and protects the general public from unacceptable levels of practice. Social Work Licensure involves passing an examination on the professional foundation content mandated by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE).

Pamphlets on social work licensure requirements for the State of Alabama are available for review in the Department's Social Work Resource Center or the offices of social work faculty. Other information on Social Work regulation and the examinations may be obtained from the ASWB website at www.aswb.org. The Social Work Program has a limited number of practice copies of the licensure examination to assist students in preparing to sit for the examination. The Department also has software available for use by students in preparing for the licensure exam. Annual workshops and seminars are scheduled to assist students in preparing for the examinations.

UNIVERSITY POLICIES

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION STATEMENT

Alabama State University respects the intellectual potential and dignity of students as individuals, without regard to age, sex, race, color, cultural background, national origin, or disability in admission of students or employment in any of its programs and activities. Alabama State University's Social Work Department prepares students to accept and work with persons whose beliefs and/or practices may be different from those propagated by the university, the department, and field education agencies. Department objectives, course objectives, and bibliographical materials are intended to produce students who are nondiscriminatory and engage in sensitive, culturally diverse practice with client systems of all sizes.

AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES ACT

The University is committed to providing an environment that ensures that no individual is discriminated against on the basis of his/her disability. Students with disabilities as defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act, who need special academic accommodations, should notify the University Counseling Center. The Center will work with the student and the instructor to coordinate and ensure reasonable academic accommodations.

APPEALS

All academic complaints should be appealed first to the faculty member involved and the department chairperson. Further appeals should be made to the dean of the respective college and the graduate dean; however, according to the Student Handbook, if the complaint is still not resolved by the dean, then the student may appeal to the provost/vice president for academic affairs and ultimately to the University President.

Academic dismissals may be appealed to the Graduate Council. Any such appeal must be made in writing to the dean of The Graduate School at least 60 days prior to the official registration date for the term in which the student is seeking readmission.

CODE OF STUDENT ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

The first law of academic life is intellectual honesty. The following regulations are consistent with the high standards expected of students at Alabama State University. Violation of any of the following standards subjects the student to disciplinary action.

A. Bribery

The offering, giving, receiving or soliciting of anything of value in order to obtain a grade or consideration a student would not expect to achieve from his or her own academic performance.

B. Cheating

1. Any conduct during a program, course, quiz or examination that involves the unauthorized use of written or oral information, or information obtained by any other means of communication.
2. The buying, selling or theft of any examination or quiz prior to its administration.
3. The unauthorized use of any electronic or mechanical device during any program, course, quiz, or examination, or in connection with laboratory reports, or other materials related to academic performance.
4. The unauthorized use of laboratory reports, term reports, theses or written materials in whole or in part.
5. The unauthorized collaboration on any test, assignment or project.
6. Participating in, or permitting, any of the above activities as defined in B, 1-5.

C. Lying

Lying is the deliberate misrepresentation by words, actions or deeds of any situation or fact, in part or whole, for the purpose of avoiding or postponing the completion of any assignment, duties, test or examination in a course, internship or program.

D. Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the act of taking an idea, writing or work of another and presenting it as the product of one's own activity, whether in whole or in part. It is the dishonest use of the work of another person. A person has committed plagiarism when he or she:

1. Submits the words, sentences, ideas, conclusion and/or examples from a source — a book, an article, another student's paper, etc. — without acknowledging the source.
2. Submits another person's work in lieu of his or her own work.
3. Allows another student, or students, to take all or part of his or her course and/or examination.
4. Knowingly aids another student in plagiarizing an assignment as defined in D, 1-3.

ATTENDANCE AND ABSENCES

Each student is expected to attend all lectures, seminars, laboratories and field work for each registered class, including the first class session, in order to verify registration with instructors and to complete all work assigned for the course. Failure to observe this policy may seriously jeopardize a student's academic standing.

If a student does not attend class during the first week (first five instructional days) of the semester and does not give prior notification to the instructor of reasons for absence and intent to attend the class, the student will be dropped from the course.

A student is permitted one unexcused absence for each credit hour generated by the class. For example, two (2) absences are allowed in a two-hour class. Excessive absenteeism, whether excused or unexcused, may result in a student's course grade being reduced in an assignment of a grade of "F".

At the beginning of the class, the instructor is responsible for having listed on his or her syllabus the University Attendance Policy. The student will be held responsible for adhering to the University Attendance Policy. Instructors of courses are not obligated to provide makeup opportunities for students who are absent, unless the absences have been officially approved.

An officially approved absence, however, merely gives the individual who missed the class an opportunity to make up the work and in no way excuses him or her from the work required. Official excuses are granted by the Office of Student Affairs for authorized University activities, verified personal illness or illness or death in the immediate family.

Absences will count from the first day of registration for each course. Students receiving veteran's benefits are required to attend classes according to the regulations of the Veterans Administration in addition to those regulations set by the University for all students. It is the responsibility of the instructor to keep an accurate attendance record of all students enrolled. Students should understand that absences may jeopardize their grades. It is the responsibility of the student to withdraw from the University or drop a course.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

All graduate level students wishing to be excused from the continuous enrollment policy must request a Leave of Absence from The Graduate School. A Leave of Absence must be obtained from The Graduate School prior to the semester the absence is to take effect or within a reasonable time of learning such leave is necessary. A student may be granted a Leave of Absence for medical reasons, family necessity or dependent care, military service, or other approved personal reasons. The student must provide The Graduate School with the appropriate documentation when requesting a Leave of Absence. Examples of appropriate documentation may include military leave papers, signed medical excuses, verification of family care, etc. Students may petition The Graduate School for a Leave of Absence for a maximum of two terms; however, military deployment or extenuating circumstances could allow for an extension. The request must be filed and approved before the anticipated absence. Also, it is the student's responsibility to make sure that all re-admission and re-entry requirements are satisfied within their designated program of study. Students who are enrolled in the Advanced Standing Program will be eligible continue in Advanced Standing following an approved leave of absence of a period no more than one year only if they are within the eight (8) year requirement.

TRANSFER CREDIT

A total of up to nine semester hours of graduate credit in which grades of B or better are earned at an accredited graduate degree-granting institution may be accepted as transfer credit. Credit earned in correspondence work will not be accepted.

Any graduate work to be transferred must meet the following requirements: (1) courses must be taken within time limitation as stated for the graduate program of study; (2) the course was restricted to graduate students only; (3) the content of the course must correspond to that of a course at this institution; and (4) courses must be approved by the student's adviser and the dean of The Graduate School. Students desiring to have graduate credits transferred must complete a Transfer of Credit form (available in The Graduate School) and have an official transcript sent from the registrar of the college/university previously attended. Students transferring courses for teacher education programs must have taken them at an institution with state-approved programs.

The Social Work Department does not give credit for life experience or previous work experience of the student. Regardless of students' related work experience, they must satisfy all requirements of the program, as well as field practicum.

TIME LIMITATION

All degree requirements must be completed within the eight-year time period.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES/ORGANIZATIONS AND SERVICES

Departmental, Professional and Honor Organizations

Social Work program faculty encourages students to join and actively participate in the Whitney M. Young Social Work Club, National Association of Black Social Workers (NABSW), and Phi Alpha Social Work National Honor Society. Notices of meetings are posted in classrooms and on bulletin boards and are announced in classes. Faculty members view participation in the clubs as an integral part of the total Department curriculum.

Membership is open to all students in Department, with only minimal annual dues. Under the leadership of elected student officers and a faculty advisor, the clubs engage in a variety of activities, which provide excellent opportunities for student socialization, professional enrichment, and community service. A major annual event is the Honors Banquet, where students invite speakers from the practice community. This program also includes the presentation of awards to students who have excelled in academics, community service, and service to the organization.

Students are also encouraged and expected to join the National Association of Social Workers (NASW), Alabama Conference of Social Workers (ACSW), the student chapter of Council of Social Work Education (CSWE), and the student chapter of Alabama/Mississippi Social Work Education Conference. Brochures and membership information are available in the Social Work Resource Center or from social work faculty members.

In addition to the above, MSW students are also encouraged to become active members of the Graduate Student Association (GSA) on the campus of Alabama State University.

Graduate Student Association (GSA)

The purpose of this organization is to serve as a vehicle in promoting graduate student interest, needs and concerns both on the main campus and off-site locations.

STUDENT RESOURCES

Counseling Services

Mr. Chris Johns, MS, LPC Director

334-229-4382

www.alasu.edu

The ultimate objective of all counseling services is to provide students with opportunities for increasing their life skills and to complement their academic development. The academic world is an environment in which men and women can grow intellectually, socially, and emotionally. To experience academic achievement without growing personally, emotionally and socially inhibits students from developing to their full potential.

The University Counseling Center offers the following services:

A. Individual Counseling provides an opportunity for students to discuss, in confidence with a trained counselor, any difficulties, thoughts, feelings or concerns that are causing them to be anxious or depressed.
